Mayor urges citizens to visit downtown during Urban Life and Style Tour

LEXINGTON – Heard the buzz about the changes in downtown Lexington?

Lexington's downtown has been on the national news and featured in several magazines.

Now it's time to come see for yourself during the Urban Life and Style Tour, Sept. 23.

“A lot is changing downtown. Currently, there are over 25 projects just completed or under construction downtown, with a combined value of over $500 million,” Newberry said. “A lot of hard work and public support have made these changes possible.”

LIFE & STYLE
tour

This is the 4th annual tour and each year National City Bank has been a key sponsor. “Showcasing the expansion of our downtown is one critical success factor driving our growth. It will always be important for companies like National City to provide the support necessary to continue our momentum,” said Harry Richart, president of National City. Co-sponsors this year are WUKY, the city and the Downtown Development Authority.

Those who attend the tour will find several new options for living downtown. There are 35 units featured on the tour at 25 different sites, including residences and businesses.

The self-guided walking tour will be held from noon until 5 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 23. Tickets are $10 each and may be purchased in advance at the Downtown Development Authority, 101 E. Vine St., or at Third Street Stuff, 257 N. Limestone St. Day-of-tour ticket sales begin at 11:30 a.m. in the Victorian Square Atrium, 401 W. Main St., at the CenterCourt Condos, 535 S. Upper St., or at Third Street Stuff.
